

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

An arrangement for generating control signals is provided. Embodiments provides a method, apparatus, system, and machine-readable medium to generate substantially linear, analog control signals to adjust amplitude contributions of phases of a reference clock signal to facilitate interpolation of a changing phase of an interpolated clock signal with substantially analog transitions.

FOR PUBLICATION